

technology:

a machine, piece of equipment, method, etc. that is created by technology; the use of science in industry to invent useful things or to solve problems

diverse:

different from each other geographic/geography:

having to do with or the natural features (such as rivers, mountains, etc.) of a place windmill:

a structure that has parts which are turned around by the wind and that is used to produce power, pump water, etc

agricultural:	having to do with farming irrigation/irrigate:	to supply (something, such as land) with water by using artificial means (such as pipes)
arid:	very dry, having very little rain or water foliage:	the leaves of a plant or of many plants

harvest:	the season when crops are gathered from the fields or the activity of gathering crops malnourished:	not eating enough food or not eating enough healthy food pervade:	to spread through, get into or exist in all parts of (something)

information
technology:

refers to any type of technology that moves/transfers
information (voice, video, data);
includes both hardware (computer, video camera, cellphone, etc.) and software (programs) that are used to store, retrieve, and process information component:	part of something that makes it function or work disassemble:	to take apart web log/blog:	a website in which hosts and their guests can post stories about their daily lives, opinions, and photographs